

Herlinda's Success Story

After many years in Wisconsin, working in the military as a combat medic specialist. I have decided to move back to Florida to be with my family. I did not have a job when I arrived in Florida, so I decided to help my family by working in nursery with them while I can get back on my feet and decide on my next career move. I remember my former coworkers always telling me that I should use my artistic talent and turn it into a career. I finally set my goal to become a facial and nail technician so that I may use my talent and actually enjoy work for a change.

Since I achieved my high school diploma at South Dade Technical College in 2005 and recalled that they offer various technical programming, I returned to this educational center and was referred to the Farmworker Career Development Program of Miami-Dade County. Ms. Ana Maria has been working with me throughout my career journey and has always kept an open communication with me. They assisted me with everything I needed to be successful in my career field. I would not have been able to be a State of Florida licensed Full Specialist if it weren't for this program. Thank you so much. I am forever grateful!
